INJUNCTION STOPS HAUSER OUSTER; WIRE FOR JUDGE

SITE 20 MEMBERS FOR MALFEASANCE

Sensation Is Sprung This Morning when County Board Prepares to "Fire" Hauser

HUNT WITH THE SHERIFF

Supervisors in Committee Room Refuse to Allow Him to Enter with Court Orders

HIGBEE COMES AT 5 P. M.

Two Adjournments Taken Until 5:30, and Court Is Asked to Hurry Here to Dissolve Writ

Supervisors this morning wired Judge E. C. Higbee at Sparta to return at 5 o'clock this afternoon, when application will be made for the dissolution of the injunction restraining the board from ousting Hauser. The supervisors hope to get a quick decision and be able finally to "fire" Hauser tomorrow morning. District Attorney Thompson believes the injunction will be dissolved without hearing of the plaintiff's case, while Attorney Hartwell is of the opinion the court will call upon him to show cause why the injunction should not be dissolved. In this case action would be delayed until late tomorrow at the earliest, preventing early action on the Hauser matter whether the injunction stood or fell.

The board adjourned at 3 o'clock until 5:30, when some action on application for dissolution of the Hauser injunction is expected from circuit court.

District Attorney James Thompson declares if the injunction is dissolved the board can proceed at once to oust Hauser regardless of the quo warranto proceedings against the other twenty members, for the reason application to unseat them has merely been made and the court would have to act before their votes would be illegal.

The fight in the county board of supervisors to oust Poor Commissioner John E. Hauser took an unexpected and sensational turn this morning when Attorneys Morris and Hartwell, representing Hauser, secured from Court Commissioner John A. Daniels, a temporary injunction against all of the 37 members of the board, restraining them from voting on the Hauser ouster until the poor commissioner shall have had a hearing before the board. The injunction also restrains twenty members of the board, charged with malfeasance in office from using their votes to make a quorum, or to vote in any manner upon the Hauser matter, pending a further order of the court, or until the case shall be reviewed in circuit court on application for a permanent injunction.

Simultaneously summons in quo warranto proceedings against the twenty members charged with malfeasance, were served upon these members, demanding they appear within twenty days before the circuit court to show why their seats are not automatically vacated, without further procedure, by mere operation of the law which unseats any member guilty of malfeasance.

Action Creates Sensation

The action of Hauser's attorneys came like a thunderbolt and the members of the county board, thoroughly determined to oust Hauser on the first ballot, were taken completely by surprise. The result will now be any action on the Hauser ouster will be delayed for a considerable length of time, until the case is heard before the circuit court.

The injunctional orders were secured this morning about 8:30 before Court Commissioner John A. Daniels, the action being brought by Commissioner Hauser, who appears as plaintiff. The quo warranto proceedings, served upon the twenty members in question were is-

COUNTY CANNOT BUY OR BUILD A NEW HOSPITAL

NO LAW PERMITS THE EXPENDITURE

District Attorney's Decision Stops Plan of Special County Committee This Afternoon

STATE MUST PASS A BILL

Expenditure, Especially Authorized, Can Then Be Made; Muetze Homestead Can Be Had

Although the special committee appointed to arrange for an anti-tuberculosis hospital, in this county, of which John Kindley is chairman, had made up a report to the county board for presentation this afternoon asking for the appointment of a permanent committee with power to act, District Attorney James Thompson this afternoon rendered a decision there was no law under which the county can spend money for a site or buildings for this sort of a hospital. Therefore a special bill will have to be passed by the legislature authorizing the building of this hospital out of the county funds.

The committee had planned to buy the old Muetze homestead, between 18th and 20th streets and south of south boulevard for $5,000 as a site and later provide for the building with permission of the state board of control. Now however, the plan is stopped until a bill can be passed by the legislature. It is the intention eventually to build a modern hospital in the county.

HAUSER OFFERS TO QUIT WHEN OTHERS RESIGN

If the Twenty Supervisors Summoned in Quo Warranto will Vacate He Is Ready to, Also

HASN'T HAD A SQUARE DEAL

Attorneys for the Commissioner Declare He Has Never Had a Square Hearing on Case

Poor Commissioner John E. Hauser will resign his office any minute the twenty supervisors charged with malfeasance, are willing to quit also. This is the statement made today by Attorney F. H. Hartwell, when asked for a statement as to Hauser's position in the matter.

"Mr. Hauser is not guilty of any violation of law," said Attorney Hartwell, "has never had any charges filed against him and has never had a square deal in the matter of a hearing. The members of the county board themselves except in the case of a very few do not know the real facts. Those few recommend that Mr. Hauser be found blameless and the county board has so held by unanimous vote. It is simply a case of 'too much candidate,' as successor to Hauser. He has made no campaign among the members as have these numerous candidates and asks no favors. All he has asked is a square deal. They may get his scalp in the end but before it is dry others will be on the fence with it.

"The salary of the office is not worth fighting for. However, to have those whom we think under the law violators themselves, sit in judgment on him after exonerating him is too much for any self-respecting man.

"Whatever he is doing is in defense of himself, his family and his good name. The board seems to have forgotten that he is a man with feelings.

Investigations Costly

"If the public generally knew what money the board has spent in paying its members for holding phony investigations and other unnecessary expenses it would not stand for it at all.

"Mr. Hauser did not make a move to bring up the wrongdoings of these supervisors until compelled to in self-defense. The injunction was not signed by Judge Daniels until this morning after the brags were made that he, Hauser, would be ousted in the first fifteen minutes of session of the board today.

Ready to Quit

"Mr. Hauser stands this morning, however, just where he has always stood. He will hand in his resignation just the minute the violators of the law on the board will step up and do likewise.

"What are Mr. Hauser's intentions? Well, he will stay in until the county board puts him out or some of the members resign as I have just told you.

"We were taught at the law school to fight all cases until the very last when once commenced. We always try our cases on that theory and see no reason for making any distinction in this Hauser matter.

"Whatever has been done the county board members have forced Mr. Hauser to do and they alone are to blame."

LA CROSSE RIVER IS NAVIGABLE

Judge Higbee Decides Fishermen May Operate from Rowboats while Wading the Stream

La Crosse river is a navigable stream and may be fished from row boats or by fishermen wading at any time without the consent of owners of abutting property. This is the decision rendered yesterday by Circuit Judge E. C. Higbee at Sparta in the case entitled Monroe Reed vs. William Henry Van Antwerp and others involving the right of fishermen to fish in La Crosse river from private property. The inference in the decision is that fishermen may not fish while standing upon the bank.

Judge Higbee held La Crosse river navigable on evidence that row boats had been used on the river two miles either side of the Spartan contest and that two sawmills had been operated in that vicinity. He issued a permanent injunction preventing owners of land abutting the river from preventing fishermen from fishing in the stream from row boats or while wading. An agreement had been formed between fifteen of the land owners to charge fishermen a dollar each for permission to fish from their land.

The court held the fishermen guilty of trespass in that they had been on the land of the plaintiff, but held the damage so nominal that a fine of one cent without costs was imposed.

MENELIK REALLY DEAD

LONDON, March 30.—A dispatch from Addis Abeba, capital of Abyssinia, today confirms the United Press cable of Monday that King Menelik died there Sunday. SAW GRUNDEN POCKET GUN WHILE TALKING TO MILLER

PRINCIPALS IN THE SAYLER TRAGEDY

BOTH SIDES SCORE IN THE SAYLER CASE

WATSEKA, Ill., March 30.—The defense in the Sayler murder trial scored a notable victory today when Judge Dibell announced his ruling on the question of the admissibility of the depositions of the defendants before the coroner. The court held that the state cannot use these statements as evidence against Dr. Miller, Mrs. Lucy Sayler and John Grunden, the alleged murderers of Banker J. B. Sayler, Judge Dibell held that the defendants made their statements to the coroner while under undue influence and excitement and were unaware of their legal right to refuse to testify. The court also ruled that the depositions of Mrs. Sayler and Grunden were not in the nature of confessions but rather accusations against Dr. Miller, and that their admission would be unfair to the latter.

Another point favoring the defense was the decision of the court holding that the plot of the room where the tragedy occurred which was drawn by Will Nightingale was not proper evidence, the measurements not being exact.

Edward Hoteling, another citizen who visited the Sayler home the night of the killing, was called to the stand this morning. At the conclusion of the state's evidence, Attorney Morris will ask for the dismissal of Mrs. Sayler and Grunden as a result of the court's ruling this morning and is confident that the case against these two will never go before the jury.

Although the defense sought to question the veracty of Witness Hotailing because it was proved that he was very nearsighted, his testimony that on the day Sayler was killed he saw Grunden put an automatic revovler in his pocket while walking to Dr. Miller, proved damaging for the defense.

This is regarded by the state's attorney as conclusive evdence that the two had prepared to kill Sayler.

Damaging Testimony

Otto Albrecht was called to the stand after Hotaling and told of seeing a revolver in Grunden's pocket after the shooting. There was blood on Grunden's hands and shirt, he said. The state here made an effort to refute the claim that Mrs. Sayler ran out of the house by the introduction of the dead banker's watch chain. The state claims that the chain which was covered with blood was imprinted on Mrs. Sayler's shirtwaist, indicating t hat she held her husband in his death struggles.

BALLINGER QUIZ TO BROADEN OUT

Action of Committee Indicates that Guggenheims Are In for Probe of Coal Deal

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 30.—An order for further detailed documentary evidence issued today by the Ballinger investigating committee indicates that the first apparent object of the investigation may sink into secondary importance and be superseded in public interest by an actual, direct inquiry into the question of whether the vast inestimable wealth of Alaska has fallen into the hands of the Guggenheims and J. P. Morgan.

The surprisingly contradictory statements which have developed regarding the status of the agreement reached between Clarence Cunningham and his associates and the Morgan-Guggenheim interests so far remain unexplained.

The committee has before it the documentary evidence that on Dec. 7, 1907, Daniel Guggenheim accepted the terms of an agreement with Cunningham and his associates by which the Guggenheims sould obtain a half interest in a five million dollar stock company by the payment of $250,000 and that the company should furnish the Guggenheims unlimited coal at $2.50 per ton.

Another document which bears the date of March 6, 1908—three months later—contains the sworn statement of Clarence Cunningham that the Guggenheims had no interest whatever, direct or indirect, in the so-called Cunningham coal claims in Alaska.

The discrepancy was pointed out when former Secretary Garfield was on the stand.

Representative James asked him: "Then when he (Cunningham) swore that nothing like that existed, that was a stall, was false, was it not?"

"I think so," replied Garfield.

Claim It Is Abrogated.

The Cunningham supporters contend that the Guggenheims failed to carry out certain provisions of the agreement and that it was abrogated for that reason. They also contend that Cunningham and the men

MERCHANTS DINE AND GET IN LINE

Annual Meeting of Protective Association Proves a Huge Success From Every Angle

"O, dear! Bread and beer!" And beside that, a great rare roast of beef, done to a turn, with mashed potatoes and coffee and all the other things that feed live, red blooded Americans, were served at the annual 6 o'clock dinner of the La Crosse Retail Merchants' Protective association at Linker hall last night.

But the foregoing "inside information" about what happened to the "inner man" was merely incidental to the bigger things that occupied the evening. The one big "brass tack" that was driven was the expressed determination of the association to smooth over the little things, and to go after the "main chance," the big possibilities that grow out of intelligent organized effort.

The report of Treasurer William Strauss showed the society to be in good financial condition, and Secretary Harry Taggart reviewed the year's work as recorded in his minutes. The salary of Secretary Taggart was raised.

President Felber's Address

When the transition from the gastronomic to the forensic had been completed, President J. J. He showed how great is the saving that has come with the rescue of the merchants from the clutches of the bogus advertising fakir and the pro-

CANADA TARIFF WAR IS SETTLED BY CONFERENCE

The Announcement Today Brings News that Embarrassing Situation Is at Last Relieved

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 30.—President Taft this afternoon signed the proclamation according the minimum tariff rates to Canadian imports at the same time the basis of agreement between the two governments was announced by Secretary of State Knox.

Canada accords to the United States the intermediate rate on thirteen numbers including about 40 articles of export from the United States and the blanket clause imposing a rate of 17.5 per cent on commodities not otherwise enumerated in the Canadian tariff list. In addition the United States proposed to take up later the question of reciprocal trade arrangements.

JOHN P. BIRD TO GIVE UP OFFICE

Faithful Official Informs Board of Education He will Not Take Re-election

John P. Bird, superintendent of schools for the city of La Crosse, will not be a candidate for re-election to that office when the Board of Education meets next July for the purpose of naming a successor.

It transpired today that the board has been in possession of this fact since the election of Mr. Bird last July. At that time, in accepting his re-election for 1909-10, Mr. Bird, who was then in Syracuse, N. Y., wrote the board the following letter:

Supt. Bird's Letter

"Syracuse, N. Y., July 16, '09.

"Mr. William Luening,

"President of the Board of Education,

"La Crosse, Wis.

"Dear Sir:

"Your favor of the 10th inst., informing me of my re-election as superintendent of schools at an increased salary, is received here. Please express to the board my thanks for this evidence of approval. The coming year when finished will complete for me thirty-five years of continuous service in the educational work of the city and at its close I shall expect to discontinue such work. The importance of the interests involved is such that timely notice of any change should be given.

"Trusting that the uniformly pleasant relations that have existed between the board and myself may continue unbroken to the end, I remain, Respectfully Yours,

"JOHN P. BIRD."

Benezet Suggested

While up to this time no successor to Mr. Bird has been selected, it is believed that a quite general sentiment will be felt in the community that L. P. Benezet, principal of the high school, ought to be named. The board has in its possession a number of applications, but will make no announcement for the present.

As stated in his letter of resignation Superintendent Bird has been in the service of the La Crosse schools for thirty-five years, during which he has distinguished himself in the matter of business performance as well as as in the high scholastic standing of the schools.

Mr. Bird began his service in La Crosse as principal of the Jefferson or old Fifth ward school. Later he was transferred to the Third ward, which he held until his election as superintendent twelve years ago.

Schools' High Grade

Perhaps no superintendent in the country has attained better results from the resources at his command than has Superintendent Bird. With a school appropriation which comes near the bottom of the list in tabulations showing the financial support of schools in cities of this size throughout the country, he has always succeeded in keeping them near the top of the lists showing the standings of accredited schools at the state university and other higher institutions of learning. That this achievement required the employment of clever management and sound financial judgment has been appreciated by the board.

A Master of Finance

Fully as notable has been the success of Superintendent Bird in the management of financial affairs affecting the school property. During

Washington Interview with Secretary Declares Lorain Story is Absolutely without Foundation

WASHINGTON, March 30.—"The rumor is absolutely without foundation," said Secretary of the Interior Ballinger this afternoon when his attention was called to the dispatch from Lorain, Ohio, to the effect that he is to succeed Justice Brewer on the supreme bench.

LORAIN, Ohio, March 30.—Secretary of the Interior Ballinger will have all his troubles ended by being appointed by President Taft to succeed the late Justice Brewer on the supreme court bench, according to a statement here this afternoon by Mrs. John Ballinger, wife of the secretary's nephew. Mrs. Ballinger arrived here from Washington yesterday and is the guest of her sister, Mrs. James Bower, wife of one of the city's influential business men.

In an interview with a reporter Mrs. Ballinger is reported as saying that the whole Ballinger-Pinchot row will be terminated by Ballinger's retirement as head of the interior department and his appointment as justice.

"The whole status of Mr. Ballinger's position in the investigation brought about by the charges by Mr. Pinchot and Mr. Glavis was changed by the sudden death of Justice Brewer," Mrs. Ballinger is quoted as having stated. "Mr. Ballinger had intended to make a complete defense to these charges and then to tender his resignation. Now I have it on the highest authority he will change his course of action so as to coincide with his appointment in immediate future as Justice Brewer's successor."

RAID 'WHITE HOUSE TO SEE PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 30—Two thousand women and children, comprising delegations to three educational meetings, broke the police guard about the White house today, and President Taft escaped only when, exhausted, he put away his palm after shaking 1,800 hands.

Several dignified senators and representatives were forced to climb through the back windows of the executive offices to get into the building.

A special detail cleared away the side combs and buttons, and the president announced his hand would not be extended again this week.

T. J. Cunningham Declares that Under Present Management Democrats Are Lost

CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis., March 30.—Charging that the democratic organization in Wisconsin is utterly paralyzed and permitting the party's opportunity to go by default, T. J. Cunningham, former secretary of state and a member of the state civil service commission, denounces the party's management for its incapacity. In a column and a half editorial review of the situation in Wisconsin, Mr. Cunningham in his Chippewa Falls Independent urges the state central committee to meet on the initiative of a majority of its members if the chairman shall fail to issue a call within ten days and submit his long promised resignation and permit the waging of an aggressive campaign.

O'Toole conducts early mass at Clayfield, and upon his return he usually leaves the collection in this desk. But this time he returned late and went at once to the church, taking the contribution, about $40, with him. The burglar secured nothing.

MARKS OLD TRAIL FOR LOVE OF IT

PORTLAND, Ore., March 30.—(Special.)—Ezra Meeker, Oregon pioneer, has left Portland in an ox team to retrace the old Oregon trail. On his way east he will set up metal markers along the old trail so that future generations may not lose the route the pioneers followed to the Pacific coast.

This is a labor of love for Mr. Meeker. He first came to Oregon in a prairie schooner, drawn by an ox team, in 1853. He introduced the hop industry into Washington and founded the town of Puyallup, the center of an extensive hop growing section.

Mr. Meeker made a similar trip to the one he has just undertaken in 1906. He had a duplicate of the old prairie schooner he brought west in 1853 made and retraced his journey to the east. His object was to arouse interest in the plan of marking the old Oregon trail in a permanent way and he was largely successful. Many places along the route set up monuments. It is to encourage further work along this line that Mr. Meeker has set out for a third trip across the continent by ox team.

The pioneer, who is willing to undertake such a journey at the age of 80 years, attracted a great deal of attention in the east on his last trip. At Washington he drove his ox team to the White house, where he was welcomed by President Roosevelt in November, 1907. In New York city, his two patient oxen drawing a prairie schooner caused no end of a sensation. Of course the first thing to do was to arrest him, the charge being that of bringing cattle upon the public streets.

Prominent men came to his aid, however, and the pioneer outfit was given the freedom of the city for 30 days. Along Broadway Mr. Meeker and his oxen were a strange sight. At Philadelphia the aged pioneer was welcomed and was allowed to make camp in City Hall square.

Portland Doubles

PORTLAND, Ore., March 30.—(Special.)—The water supply of Portland will be doubled during the present year to provide all the water necessary for twice the city's present population. Contracts have just been let for the building of a second pipe line from Bull Run river, the source of the city's water supply, 24 miles away.

The new pipe line will be of cast iron, 53 inches in diamater for the greater part of the distance and 49 inches for the remainder. When completed, it will carry 45,000,000 gallons of water every 24 hours. It is believed this will assure the city of an adequate water supply for the coming ten years. Whenever desired, however, further large additions to the city's supply may be had from the same source, which is considered one of the purest mountain streams in America.

BIG RAILWAY YEAR IN NORTH DAKOTA

All the Companies Plan to Guard Present Territory and to Acquire New

BISMARCK, N. D., March 30.—With the construction of 1,312 miles of railroad in North Dakota under consideration and with actual work commenced on a large portion of this mileage, the railroad map of this state is due to be greatly changed within the coming two or three years.

Many factors are responsible for so much railroad construction work, the most important of which is the desire of the railroads to shorten their transcontinental lines, to open new territory and to retain territory from further invasion by rival companies. The fight is particularly bitter between the Northern Pacific and Great Northern and the Soo line, while the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul is fast becoming a competitor of no mean proportions in the southern part of the state.

An entirely new company is taking up a big proposition, namely the construction of an electric line 125 miles in length, touching five counties in the lignite coal belt.

THE ESCAPE

The proposed investigation into conditions through which three dangerous criminals escaped from the county jail may be worth while, even though it result in nothing more than a stricter discipline which is apt to follow official scrutiny of deportment of those in charge of the institution.

The claim is made by the jail officials that the attention of the county board has been repeatedly called to weakness in the wing of the jail from which the escape was made.

On the other hand, it has been reported to members of the board that gross carelessness resulted in the escape, and that a number of inmates of the tramp variety were locked in their cells while the desperate criminals were at large in the corridor doing scrubbing that might have been imposed upon the vagrants, whose escape would have amounted to little.

In such an investigation as may occur, the commissioners have the advantage, as they will hardly find themselves guilty of neglect of any kind. However, the responsibility can hardly be avoided by those immediately in charge, nor can they object to an inquiry which must exonerate them if they are blameless as surely as it will result in reprimand should they be found guilty of negligence.

AN OLD TIME JUDGE

Regret over the death of David J. Brewer, associate justice of the supreme court of the United States, finds food in the fact that he was an eminent lawyer and a citizen whose honesty of purpose will go unchallenged to the end of time.

However, frankness compels the admission that our supreme court will not be the loser by his passing, unless there should be seen the spectacle of a Ballinger supplanting him. Justice Brewer, in the matter of his public utterances, was the least dignified of the justices, a fact excused in his later years by the reflection that perhaps his scolding denoted the beginning of a failing mentality.

Justice Brewer belonged to the old school. To him the letter of the law was the limit of its operation. To him the constitution was a thing immutably fixed, inelastic to the impulses of a changing civilization and an expanding nation. To him capital was sacred, and the people the background upon which the capitalist painted great pictures of commercial empire.

In his caustic assaults upon former President Roosevelt, the jurist showed his firm conviction of the inelasticity of the constitution, nor did the fact that the broader view of the executive was taken in the interest of exact justice and the common good mitigate, in his view, the heinousness of the offense of passing over the letter of a document framed over two centuries ago.

The constitution of the United States was not framed to protect any wrong, no matter though that wrong may have come within the letter of laws drawn in older times and under different conditions. Younger blood, men not grown old in ruts of other days, will not be fatal to our supreme tribunal of justice.

It is disappointing that, just as all the labor troubles seemed in a good way to be settled amicably, by arbitration or otherwise, the news of a great coal strike reaches us. No doubt this cannot be evaded, but it is not less unfortunate for that it is necessary. However, by comparison it is of small significance compared with the results of a strike such as has been avoided, involving nearly every big railroad in the country. Perhaps, after all, we are fortunate.

Between the Pittsburg board of aldermen and the New York legislature, graft is having a painful "morning after" this spring. The grafters "got away with it" in the Chicago probe, but now Mississippi and Ohio are cleaning up. Looks like conscience is becoming a more reliable alarm clock than it used to be.

Those who phoo-hoo "white slavery" as a fiction born of cranky imagination may read their mistake in New York's latest murder sensation. It seems there are brutes who do not hesitate at murder where their baser purpose fails.

Another American warship accident revives the accusation that we have more of them than are necessary. The naval maneuvers and target practice are becoming as deadly as war.

The British Lion seems worried over the outcome of Col. Roosevelt's speech in which he bearded the goat in its alley.

Lung Trouble

Coughs, Colds, Consumption and All Diseases of the Throat and Lungs Can Be Prevented and Cured.

Mr. Walter Clark was restored to health and strength after being unable to work for two months. Read what he says: "After having been afflicted with a serious case of lung trouble and used many remedies without result—in fact, I was unable to do any work whatever for two months—Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey was recommended and I commenced taking the same. I desire to state that I am entirely cured, having been pronounced so by my physician. I consider this the greatest medicine of the present age. This testimonial is conscientiously given and without any solicitation whatsoever."—Walter Clark, Bluefield, W. Va.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

has to its credit fifty years of public service. It is the result of years of careful work and is an absolutely pure distillation of carefully malted grain. Overworked men, delicate women and sickly children will find in Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey the health and strength-giving parts that are so necessary to them. You should have it in your home. It is a wonderful remedy in the prevention and cure of consumption, pneumonia, grippe, bronchitis, coughs, colds, asthma, malaria, low fevers, stomach troubles and all wasting and weakening conditions, if taken as directed.

All druggists, grocers and dealers, or direct, $1.00 a large bottle. Refuse substitutes and imitations; they are impure and dangerous. Send for medical booklet and doctor's advice, both sent free.

SPOTLIGHTS

AL. H. WILSON

Al. H. Wilson, the singing Ambassador of German dialect, under the management of Sidney R. Ellis, will appear at the La Crosse Theater on tomorrow night in his new play, "Metz in Ireland," which is said to be the best Wilson play so far produced. The title of "Metz in Ireland" is suggestive of comedy, and one can imagine the amusement created by the rollicking, freehearted and music loving "Metz."

JOHN E. YOUNG AGAIN

John E. Young, the Happy Johnny Hicks of the "Time, the Place and the Girl" Co., who comes to the La Crosse Theater on Saturday, April 2, matinee and night in the new comedy, "The Money and the Girl," will be surrounded by a notable cast. It includes Minnie Jarbeau, who played Mabel Barrison's role in "The District Leader," Charlotte Learn, last seen here with Ezra Kendall; J. S. Kinslow, who for the past two years has played the role of Laurie Farnum in "The Time, the Place and the Girl;" Howard Missmier, who last year was one of the leading men with Lillian Lillian Russell in "Wildfire;" Blanche Alexander, Lawrence Wood, Frederick Monley, Helen Wash, Roland Cummings and Sidney Stone.

The tour is under the personal direction of Col. John J. B. B. Garrity.

A Home-Made Remedy For All Nervous Ailments

Nerve medicines and prescriptions are usually expensive. Here is one that you can prepare at home in a few minutes, at small cost. There is really nothing better for any nervous disorder.

Make a strong tea by steeping five cents worth of Hops in a pint of boiling water, and strain it well. Put two ounces of Thargol Compound in an eight-ounce bottle (exactly half pint), then fill it up with the Hop Tea. Try two teaspoonfuls four times daily.

This simple remedy is free from narcotics, opiates or other dangerous drugs. It soothes and strengthens the nerves without any evil effects. In sleeplessness or nervous headache it is worth its weight in gold. For "nervousness," nervous prostration, hysteria—even St. Vitus Dance—it is a splendid medicine. Costs only about 55 cents, but nothing better can be had at any price.

This is well worth trying, providing you get the right ingredients from your druggist—five cents worth of Hops and two ounces of Thargol Compound. Make it as above directed.

GODDESS OF LIBERTY

Miss Sallie Fisher, the favorite comic opera prima donna in "The Goddess of Liberty" has already been dubbed by the critics as the girl with the wonderful eyes. This attraction comes direct from the Princess theater, and will be seen in this city on Monday, April 4th., for one night only. The La Crosse and Southeastern "Goddess of Liberty" special train leaves Viroqua at 6 o'clock p. m.

FAILS TO THROW ROLLER

At Kansas City, after two hours and fifteen minutes of the roughest wrestling and near-prize fighting that has been seen for many a day, the police stopped the match between Dr. B. F. Roller and Zbyszko at Convention Hall.

Dr. Roller is matched to wrestle Henry Webber, the champion of Austria, at the La Crosse theater on Tuesday night, April 5. There will also be a finish between Jim Asbell of Kansas City vs. Mont Henderson of New York.

DIFFERENT JOSHUA

"There is a judge down in Nashville, who is so strong in Biblical law that he could not resist the desire to air it on every occasion," said Laurence Wheat, who is playing the role of Lieutenant Crawford in Henry W. Savage's "Miss Patsy," which will be the attraction at the La Crosse theater Sunday, April 3, matinee and night.

"Five years ago, when I was playing there with Mr. Savage's "College Widow" company, a friend of mine induced me to spend a few moments in the court room—considering the judge one of the local attractions worthy of a visit. An old darkey under suspicion of conducting an illicit still in the mountains was arraigned. There was no real evidence against him but the judge started to quiz:

"'What's your name, prisoner?' he said, as he peered severely at the black man.

"'My fust name is Joshua, jedge,' was the reply.

"'Ah, murmured the judge, as he rubbed his hands. 'Your name is Joshua, you say? Are you that same Joshua spoken of in the Holy Writ? The Joshua who made the sun stand still?'

"'Not de same, jedge,' said the negro quickly. 'No, sah, t hat's another man entirely. I'se de Joshua dat made the moonshine.'"

AT THE MAJESTIC

A most refined and intelligent animal act is to be seen at the Majestic this week in the act entitled "Arnoldo's leopards and panthers." The act shows what affection an intelligence can be aroused in these wild animals of the jungle.

Arnoldo is a magnificent specimen of manhood. He is a Dane but speaks fluent English. He is a man of superior intelligence—quite different from the average animal trainer—a man of culture and one who has made the study of wild animals a life work. Contrary to natural history he has proved to the public that even the leopard has a sense of affection.

"I am not a showman," said Arnoldo today. "I am not even so much as an actor—I am just a man in love with my work, in love with the spotted fellows who help me to gain a livelihood. They are all my children and have my welfare at heart," said he simply as he waved his hand at his spotted friends.

"Have you no fear of the animals?" was asked.

"None in the least," he replied. "I know my animals very well and can tell the moment ony one of them is sick or indisposed. I try to be cautious and will not take chances with one that is out of condition. But I have no fear. The animals love me in their way, and despite what naturalists say, I can prove to you that even leopards have a sense of affection."

His statement was proved at the performance in the evening, when "Big Tom," the largest African leopard in captivity, after a great springing feat went to the trainer, and erecting himself on his hind legs, stretched himself to his full length and laid his massive head and paws on the trainer's shoulders, rubbing his head affectionately against the man's face. It was a thriller for the audience.

In speaking of the training of the animals, Arnoldo laid great stress upon the fact that kindness prevailed with him in his work and that he seldom used a whip on his beasts. He never carries firearms.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

At the Bridge Whist Club

I played on at bridge at midnight,
Though my bank account ran low,
And a warning voice within me
Said I'd better quit and go.

A moment's calm reflection
Might have saved me from such fate,
But the lust of bridge had gripped me,
And, alas, it was too late.

And even the cards before me
Seemed luring me on to play,
And the currency, gleaming and going,
Seemed to lift and bear me away.

And I bid when I should have grudged it,
And bridged when I might have bid;
And only the god of the foolish
Knows the mad, sad thing I did.

And ever the play went wilder,
And the cards still wilder went,
And the wildest of any—
For I risked my last red cent.

How often, oh, how often,
In the good old days long past,
I had played on at bridge at midnight,
And raked in the pile at last.

How often, oh, how often,
I prayed in a tense aside,
I might bear away in my pocket
That pile so deep and wide.

But the game was dead against me;
I'd lost my luck at the play,
And the debts there laid upon me
Seemed greater than I could pay.

With my coin all fallen from me,
I left in the cold graw dawn,
Deep cursing the bridge at midnight,
And wondering what I could pawn.

Determining Sex

Mark Twain says that he has always taken woman's part.

"For instance," he relates, "I once strongly reprimanded a woman out in Hannibal, Mo. Here was the occasion:

"'So this is a little girl, eh?' I said to her as she displayed her children to me. 'And this sturdy little urchin in the bib belongs, I suppose, to the contrary sex?'

"'Yassah,' the woman replied. 'Yassah, dat's a girl too.'"—Everybody's Magazine.

The Money Question

"Wot do they mean, Jimmy, when they say money talks?"

"I dunno unless it's the wonderful way it says goodbye to yer."—London Tatler.

Vindictive Cuss

"Ugh!" spluttered Mr. Jones. "That nut had a worm in it."

"Here," urged a friend, offering him a glass of water, "drink this and wash it down."

"Wash it down!" growled Jones. "Why should I? Let him walk!"—Everybody's.

VIRGINIA OF THE AIR LANES.

BY HERBERT QUICK

COPYRIGHT BY BOBBS-MERRILL CO.

So Mrs. Stott stayed, a most unsafe duenna under the circumstances. And Theodore stayed also. There were so many things to do. Craighead's telegrams came in from the east, still Delphic in significance. One reported that New York was practically "surrounded;" another, that the country would soon be "gridironed." Theodore was deaf to voices from the outerworld. A letter from Harrod, proving that the news of his return had reached the cabin in the dunes, lay on the old escritoire one morning. Theodore inserted a paper-knife in the envelope, half cut it open—and saw Virginia's dress glimmering outside. The half-opened letter fell to the desk and Uncle Theodore leaped out on the veranda.

She came up to the gallery, and leaned her chin on the rail.

"Morning, uncle!" said she. "Have you slept well?"

"Fine."

"You don't look it," said she. "Your eyes look dull You devote too much time to busines while your family is asleep, don't you?"

"Uncle" thought of the unopened letter, the unanswered telegrams, the neglected business, Mr. Waddy's money, the uncompleted aeronef, the sleepless nights—tormented by—not business, at all, not business! Decidedly not!

"I slept too soundly," said he. "What's the program for today?"

She wanted some magnolia blossoms. Uncle Theodore thought there might be some down about Week's Bay, where they came early.

"Put on your hat," said he. "Have Chloe pack up luncheon, and we'll go down."

"Done!" cried she. "You're the best of uncles! Let's to breakfast! Can't we catch a speckled trout?"

"We ought to get all we want," said Theodore.

"And cook him over a fire?"

"Certainly," said Theodore. "And soft-shelled crabs—we'll have a great day!"

"Happy, happy youth," said Mrs. Stott—and sighed.

"Uncle Theodore," said Virginia, "is neither youthful nor happy—he must have a nerve specialist or quit spilling his coffee!"

"Some pangs are more delicious than joy," said Mrs. Stott, scrutinizing Theodore until he was half wild. "Pangs of spring, youth and sweet fellowship!"

Theodore ate wolfishly, and drank great quantities of coffee to show that he was in fine fettle—quite unable to pick up his end of the conversation. It was youth and spring and sweet fellowship, though the items made him sick of Mrs. Stott's table-talk. He wanted the river and Psyche, knowing that he ought to go and leave her. Every night he vowed to go next morning—and laid plans for another day with her.

It was maddening. She brought him dresses, gloves and hats fro criticism, and confided to him the state of her wardrobe. She reckoned the time before she must have any more dresses, told him what her stockings and underclothing had cost, and asked him if he didn't think such dreadful prices absurd.

"You know about some of the things," said she roguishly. "I thought once that you must be a collector of corsets!"

Uncle Theodore writhed in agony, and said he was sure she had no clothing too expensive or too fine—well aware that, at the prices named, one month's purchase would bankrupt him.

"I've more jewelry than I need," said she. "I can sell that, you know."

"No, no!" protested Theodore. "Never!"

"But some of it," said she, "I don't want. Let me show you some perfectly absurd things!"

Rings, brooches, bracelets, a pearl necklace—none very absurd; then two bands of gold, embellished with Cupids and Venuses, cunningly linked to expand or contract with the elastic tape through them, and each clasped with clustered diamonds that dartled blue and red. Theodore took them up and admired them—for they were very lovely.

"How beautiful!" he cried. "How I should like to see them on you!"

"What good would that do you, silly?" said she. "I don't believe you know what they are!"

For once, he blush was Virginia's.

"They're bracelets, aren't they?" queried Theodore. "Or are they necklaces—or girdles?"

"Do you mean to say—?" She stopped and in desperation at his ignorance added plumply—"They're my Sunday-go-to-meeting garters"

Theodore stretched them to their full extent, not quite in possession of the idea; and looked at her as if in incredulity. Snatching them she ran to her room really put to flight—she who had discussed things quite as intimate with dozens of men, without a quiver of the eyelash. But they, she said, weren't babies; and it was like talking ailments to a physician. But this boy-uncle—he really was the most disturbing creature! She felt put in an indelicate position by the immaculate character-sheet of the young savage. While he—he felt his skin freeze and burn alternately at that awful speech, beyond pardon. She had left him in anger. She would never speak to him again—she under his protection by his own deceit. If man ever was bound to suffer death rater than utter a syllable of respectful love, even, not to mention disrespect. Somehow, he must atone; and how to apologize without grave offense was a question sweated over at the escritoire in unavailing woe—until she peeped from behind the door and said:

"I can sell the absurd things, even if you don't know what they are. They obstruct the circulation, anyhow!"

Theodore tore up his apology and they went after berries.

No wonder that it took much coffee to clear his eyes before the voyage for magnolia blooms. He had walked the hall in his stocking feet for hours; kissed Virginia's door once or twice; and hurried to bed where he enacted enough two-character vaudeville sketches to have filled all the circuits in the world. In all these the avuncular relation was explained away, in eloquence which brought tears to the eyes of Uncle Theodore, the one dispassionate auditor. "I have deceived you," the man-actor would say. "But if ever man had highest claims for pardon, I am he! I loved you so, Virginia. I could not send you away! Will not love win pardon for deceit?" Sometimes the woman-character scorned him, and he died of a broken heart; while, oftener, she whispered that she must punish him, every day of their lives — by staying with him. Then he died of joy. So there was a new leading man at every performance but he was always Theodore Carson; and Uncle Theodore always shed copious tears on the pillow.

At a ferry en route Virginia kissed a little girl and called her "sweetheart." Virginia wanted to see some young woodpeckers, and almost wept when the one Theodore got out would not go back into the nest, but fluttered away, crying pitifully. They got some magnolia buds which the "creole" negro girl said would surely open, adding that "all the young couples came for them on Sundays." Virginia encountered a "spreadin' adder," ten inches long, and ran to Theodore, gathering her skirts about her plump calves in terror; and he calmed and comforted her on a high and fatherly level.

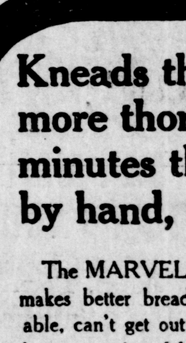

That was the maddening thing. Everything was maddening; but crisis and explosion lay in the fact that, while keeping her within reach, he had palsied the arm to reach her withal; that he could drop no hint of those nightly visions; that, while their relation allowed affection, they shut out love. This life gave to him revelations mostly hidden from lovers, and vouchsafed to fathers, brothers and husbands only; but he was cut off from the endearments of an uncle, even. He was a tiger-cub licking his master's hand, and feeling the jungle hunger for it. All that day the cub had been on the very verge of devouring somebody. It was appalling. All unconscious of her parlous state, Virginia took his arm under the screening row of cedars, told hm what a delightful day she had had, and squeezed his arm while she said it.

Something may have warned her that this was a ticklish thing with so young and inexperienced an uncle, for she dropped his arm and ran gaily toward the house, looking back and stepping lightly like a kid—when she trod in a hollow, and fell in a heap on the Bermuda grass. Theodore found her with her ankle gripped in her hands, and her lips tight to hold back a cry. A hurried question, a cheery reply cut in two with a twinge of pain, and he picked her up. She threw her arms about his neck to ease the burden. Alas! it made it heavier! The fervor of his embrace did the ankle no good, and nearly crushed poor Virginia. The color rose slowly to her brow, as he set her down on the veranda, and stood over her, breathing hard. She rose on the sound foot and tried the other carefully.

"It isn't bad at all," said she. "I can almost walk on it."

He Did

Tommy came out of a room in which his father was tacking down carpet. He was crying lustily.

"Why, Tommy, what's the matter?" asked his mother.

"P-p-p-papa hit his finger with the hammer," sobbed Tommy.

"Well, you needn't cry at a thing like that," comforted the mother. "Why didn't you laugh?"

"I did," sobbed Tommy, disconsolate.—Housekeeper.

"Q" TRAINS RUN ON MILWAUKEE TRACKS

Because of the burning of a small bridge at the little station of Nelson, north of the city, on the Burlington line, trains Nos. 47 49 and 50 ran over the tracks of the Milwaukee road this morning. No details of the burning of the bridge have been learned at the local offices of the road. No. 47 is due from the south at 3:25 a. m., No. 49 at 6:50 a. m. from the south, and No. 50 arrives fro mthe north at 2:15 a. m. All the trains were late, being obliged to switch over to the Milwaukee tracks.

GETS MAGNIFICENT HEAD OF AN ELK

Mrs. Henry Kinder, 1352 Berlin street, has received what is perhaps the largest elk head in the city. The gift is from an uncle, Henry Pilger, of Gardner, Mont., a former resident of the North side.

The head is a magnificent specimen, the horns measuring over seven feet from tip to tip. It is mounted and presents a beautiful appearance. The head created much interest and excitement as it was being taken to the residence, a large crowd of admirers crowding around the wagon when it was unloaded.

GRADERS WORKING AT WEST SALEM

The grading of the Milwaukee road, which is constructing double track at West Salem, began work there this morning. The men are under the supervision of Roadmaster Seymour. It is expected that the entire work along the line between here and Tunnel City will be completed before next winter.

NORTH SIDE IN BRIEF

Mrs. C. Blystad, who was recently operated upon at one of the local hospitals, has been removed to her home, 1602 Charles street.

CENTRAL FIGURE IN COLOMBIA'S UPRISING

BOGOTA, Colombia.—The outrages perpetrated upon the American embassy here have brought the situation sharply to the American state department. Minister Northcott from the United States is of course the central figure.

The feeling is very bitter among Americans in general owing to the street car strike. The corporation is an American corporation against whim the employes have taken a radical stand, and the company, together with other American interests, is suffering outrages at the hands of the mob. The police so far have been able to maintain a show of order. The American embassy has not been attacked, though feeling is so intense that this may occur at any moment.

This will jar off the good people's specs. A New York judge yesterday decided that "damn" is not a swear word. Then what is it?

THE PROPER CARE OF OILCLOTH

Oilcloth should not be swept with a straw broom or scrubbed with a stiff brush. Instead, sweep with a soft hair brush and wipe off with lukewarm water in which has been dissolved a teaspoonful of Gold Dust washing powder and rinse with clear, warm water. Where oilcloth is losing its shiny surface, wash as above, then dissolve a little ordinary glue in a pint of hot water. At night go over the whole carefully with a flannel dipped in glue water. Choose a dry day and by morning the glue will be hard; it will give a fine gloss and make the oilcloth wear much longer.

Wingold

THE FINEST FLOUR IN THE WORLD

Now that the campaign for a reduced cost of living is on, we desire to reiterate and emphasize what we stated in a recent ad, i. e., that WHITE FLOUR, even at the prevailing high price, is THE CHEAPEST AND BEST FOOD OBTAINABLE.

U. S. Government tests prove that THREE POUNDS OF "WINGOLD" FLOUR, COSTING ABOUT 10 CENTS, has stored up within it as much life-giving energy as SIX POUNDS OF MEAT, COSTING 90 CENTS TO $1.20. Remember this when purchasing food.

INVENTS A WHEAT HEATING MACHINE

George Hagmann of the Listman Mill Perfects Device to Be Inspected by Experts

A new wheat heating machine, which is said by experts to be the most practicable of any of the 500 now on the market, has been invented by George Hagemann, engineer at the Listman Mill company. The device has been installed in the local mill and within a few days mill engineering experts from all over the country will visit the plant to see the new machine in operation.

"Of the 500 wheat heating machines now in use my device does the work the best,' said Mr. Hagemann. 'The trouble with all other machines is that the wheat is not evenly tempered and when this is the case the bran works into the flour and must be removed afterward. We put this device in three weeks ago, and it has given the best of satisfaction.

"Should experts approve the machine we will manufacture it in La Crosse."

COMPLAINING CLUBS APPROVE SCHEDULE

The Wausau club of the Minnesota-Wisconsin league, which at the beginning of the week had some complaint about the playing schedule for the year, has approved the draft without any important changes, according to information given out this morning by President Elliott. Winona, although they have not officially approved the schedule, has virtually done so, and official news to that effect is expected from there.

Mr. Elliott today received a letter from Mique Malloy, who is still at Chicago, in which the former La Crosse player says that he has signed eight good men, four of whom are faster than himself. Malloy will not return to this city, but may stop off here enroute to Red Wing when he reports there.

COBBLER OF KOEPENIK IS AT CHICAGO TODAY

CHICAGO, March 30.—Wm. Volgt, the "cobbler of Koepenik," from the Grand Duchy of Luxemburg, who for two years ago added to the gaiety of nations by donning the stolen uniform of an officer of the imperial guard by virtue of which he placed himself at the head of a company of soldiers, put the mayor and town council of the village of Koepenik under arrest and calmly walked off with the village funds, is holding the attention of Chicago today.

Volgt is several inches under six feet, with steel blue eyes, gruff eyebrows and pepper and salt hair. He speaks no English and will lecture here in German on the psychological nature of his exploits.

"My, but it was a fine joke," says Volgt. "I asked for a passport to go to Russia, but I was nothing but a poor cobbler so the Herr Burgomeister says, 'Be off with you. Do not annoy me with your affairs.' I went to Berlin and got a uniform. That is the God in Germany. I came back. The mayor looked at the coat and surrendered to the buttons. They put me in prison awhile but the kaiser thought it was a good joke and after a year he pardoned me."

HIKERS RETURN FROM CAMP SITE

The Y. M. C. A. Hiking party of 24 boys, who left Monday morning for Trempealeau Bay. under the leadership of Mr. Ogden, returned yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock. The boys had an exceedingly pleasant trip taking in the towns of Onalaska, Midway and Trempealeau and arriving at Trempealeau Bay at about the middle of Monday afternoon. The remainder of the afternoon was spent in looking over the prospective camp site for the boys' camp this summer. After inspecting the camp site thoroughly, the boys turned themselves over to the care of Mrs. H A Shrake, who provided them with dinner.

The return trip began at 6 o'clock Tuesday morning. most of the boys making the full trip back on foot, but a few of them too tired out by their first day's trip, preferred to come back on the plush.

The general plans for the boys camp at Trempealeau Bay this summer are well under way. The time will be the two weeks immediately following the close of school and every arrangement will be made for taking care of a large number of boys. This form of camp is a new departure to the boys of La Crosse.

His Views on Suffrage

When a female canvasser asked an old farmer to sign a petition in favor of a woman's movement he eyed the document for a while with suspicion. "No, I'm agin' it, sure," was the reply, with the emphasis of a man who had had some domestic infelicity. "A woman who's allus a-movin' is allus a-gettin' in trouble. If you've got anything to keep her quiet I'll sign it."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Developments show that the Frits Schroeder fined at Bangor during the past week for failure to properly bury his horse and later for swearing at the justice of the peace, is not the Fritz Schroeder who is a member of the county poor commission.

NO GENERAL STRIKE

CINCINNATI, Ohio, March 30.—No general strike is to follow the failure of the miners and operators of Ohio, Pennsylvania and Indiana to reach a basis of agreement on the question of wages and improved working conditions. Strikes will occur, however, in individual districts and when the miners' delegates left here for their homes this morning it was estimated from 150,000 to 200,000 men would lay down their picks on April 1.

LOCAL SHIPPERS MAKE COMPLAINT

J. I. Lamb Company and John C. Burns Appear Before Interstate Commerce Examiner

A hearing of great importance to all La Crosse shippers, was held before Walter E. McCormack of Washington, D. C., special examiner of the Interstate commerce commission, in which the J. I. Lamb Company and John C. Burns were the complainants. Three cases were brought against certain railroads in which it was alleged that they were discriminated against by the carriers, in favor of St. Paul, in the shipment of fruit from southern points The hearing was held in the United States court rooms in the federal building this morning at 10 o'clock. Testimony was taken by Mr. McCormack, which will be submitted to the interstate commerce commission and a decision will be rendered some time in May or June.

Two of the cases, one brought by the Lamb company and the other by John C. Burns, were identical, and were against the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, the Chicago Great Western, Chicago and Northwestern and the Missouri Pacific Railway companies. In these cases it is alleged that the plaintigs made shipments of apples from Atchison, Kas., to La Crosse; that upon the shipment the defendants enacted a rate of 27 cents per 100 pounds; that at the time of said shipments there was in effect a rate of 21 cents on apples from Atchison to St. Paul, Minn., La Crosse being an intermediate point and that the complainants should have been charged 21 cents per 100 pounds on the shipments mentioned, the amount collected being overcharged and unjust. The complaints ask reparation for the amounts overcharge.

In the third case, which is brought by the Lamb company, complainant claims that a rate of 48 cents per 100 pounds was charged on grapes from South Haven, Mich., to La Crosse, which was excessive. In this action the defendants are the Michigan Central and the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway companies.

E. J. Seymour, assistant general freight agent of the Northwestern road, and F. G. Wright, assistant commerce counsel of the Milwaukee road, appeared for the defendants involved. Some of the carriers admitted that there should be a relationship between La Crosse and St. Paul upon shipments from the territory in question, including Atchison and Leavenworth, Kas., and Savanna, Mo., on apples, and are willing to give reparation on that basis and have that relationship to be determined for the future.

Wants Fair Treatment

Addressing the commissioner John C. Burns said:

"Mr. Commissioner, there was a twenty-one cent rate, and later the railroads formed an agreement to raise the rate to 27 cents. One of the roads failed to keep the agreement, but continued to solicit business at 21 cents. Then the other roads rushed into the field like a bull rushes at a red flag and offered to take business at the same price."

"We shall endeavor to treat La Crosse shippers fairly," said the commissioner.

"That is what we want," said Mr. Burns. 'We wanted to get these facts to the attention of the commission, so that La Crosse will get a square deal on rates."

who acted with him had no authority to act for the claimants.

The testimony of Stephen Birch, managing director, and John N. Steele, counsel for the Guggenheim-Morgan syndicate, showed that the syndicate controls all te steamsips plying fom Washington ports to Alaska, and the only two railroads capable of operation in the territory. In addition it was shown that the syndicate controls the only three practicable gateways to the interior of Alaska.

Somebody Lied.

The fact that in the beginning of te Alaskan coal land investigation it was contended by some of those supposed to be interested that the Guggenheims had no part in the coal land claims and that the reverse is now openly admitted and shown by evidence, combined with the contradictory statements, is expected to lead deeper into the matter than was originally contemplated.

Control Is Absolute.

With the steamship lines and the railroads in their possession it is shown that the Guggenheims and Morgan unquestionably sought to control the coal output.

Many Alaskan authorities point out that with the control of the coal the syndicate would control practically the entire industry of the territory and in effect everybody in Alaska would be working directly or indirectly for the Guggenheims and J. P. Morgan.

FARMER KILLED; FELL OFF WAGON

Chris Christianson Either Broke Neck or Fractured His Skull at Viroqua Today

VIROQUA, Wis., March 30.—(Special.)—While driving a load of tobacco into the city this morning, Chris Christiansen, a farmer residing two miles west of the city, fell from his wagon and died from the result of the fall. It is thought that he either fractured his skull striking the wheel or that he broke his neck when he struck the ground. He was dead before a physician arrived.

Christiansen was driving over a crossing at the outskirts of the town when the accident happened. Two bales of tobacco were jarred from the wagon and the farmer also fell. Two little girls were the only witnesses to the accident. The horses becoming frightened ran away.

A following vehicle containing the dead man's father-in-law, Mr. Johnson, and his son Bernt, discovered the body in the road.

Deceased is survived by a widow and two children aged 8 and 13 years.

INDICT WOLTER THIS AFTERNOON

NEW YORK, March 30.—Following the verdict of the coroner's inquest indicting Albert Wolter for the murder of liittle Ruth Wheeler and the burning of her body, the grand jury hastened to indict Wolter this afternoon on the charge of murder in the first degree. Incensed at the brutality of the crime, the district attorney's office is co-operating with the police to effect a speedy trial of Wolter. A legal battle will come when the district attorney tries to put Wolter on trial early next week.

A motive for the murder of the Wheeler girl has been definitely established by Prof. Larkin of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, which proved beyond doubt that the child was assaulted.

Attorney Scott, who has been retained to defend Wolter, comes from Sioux Falls, S. D., where he was formerly a law partner of ex-United States Senator Kittredge. Attorney Scott, while in Sioux Falls, acted as attorney for Mrs. Blanche Chesbrough Molineaux in her divorce suit against Roland B. Molineaux after the latter was acquitted of the murder of Mrs. Adams. After the divorce Scott married his client.

THOMPSON TO GIVE OPINION ON CASE

Judge Brindley Refers John A. Daniels to the District Attorney in the Guenther Case

Judge John A. Daniels today appeared before Judge Brindley in an effort to ascertain whether the court would issue an order, regardless of the action of the county board, to compel Emil Guenther and five other children, to provide for their mother, Wilhelmina Guenther, whom the judge declares is dependent upon them for support. He alleges under the law children are compelled to care for their parents when able to do so.

Judge Brindley declared he would take no action in the matter, and referred Attorney Daniels to District Attorney James Thompson, who has the authority to order an investigation of the case and action thereon.

Judge Daniels declares he will use every possible legal weapon to compel Emil Guenther, supervisor, and te other children who are able, to provide for the old lady.

CITE 20 MEMBERS FOR MALFEASANCE

sued by the State of Wisconsin on complaint of Dr. George F Hauser, a brother of the poor commissioner as relator.

Candidates on Hand

It was regarded as a foregone conclusion that Hauser would lose his scalp at the opening of the session at 10 o'clock and the corriders were early filled with supervisors, interested spectators and numerous candidates for the office to be vacated.

Meanwhile Attorney F. H. Hartwell had quietly slipped into the office of Sheriff William Duncan, in the basement of the building and placed upon his desk a couple of armfuls of injunctional orders to be served upon all of the 37 board members and the quo warranto summons, to be served upon the twenty members charged with malfeasance. The sheriff was given orders to serve the papers before the board was called to order.

Sheriff Barred Out

As it neared 10 o'clock, the hour for the board to convene, the supervisors began to ascend to the second floor of the court house. It developed the members had decided to hold a caucus, presumably for the purpose of deciding who should be elected to succeed Mr. Hauser, or possibly to consider what should be done about the coup sprung by Hauser's attorneys, as knowledge of the existence of the injunction had crept over the court house.

As the supervisors filed into a committee room to hold the caucus Sheriff Duncan and Undersheriff George Wright followed close behind, each bearing an armful of the injunctional orders. William Bradley, member of the board, was the last man in, ahead of the sheriff, and when his giant form disappeared through the door, the door was suddenly slammed in the sheriff's face and those inside the committee room held the door against the intrusion of the sheriff and his assistant, with the injunctional papers.

Demands Door Opened

"Davis, Davis," shouted Sheriff Duncan, rapping on the door and calling the name of the chairman of the board, "this is Duncan, the sheriff; this is Duncan, open the door!"

There was a murmer from the inside and the sheriff pushed against the barred door in an effort to force his way into room, but someone, or several, were tightly braced upon the inside, and it would not yield.

"Open this door," shouted the sheriff, "This is the sheriff and I call upon you to open the door so I can serve these papers."

There was no response, and the murmering coming from within showed an excited and hasty conference was in progress. Attorneys Wolfe and Wolfe, Bunge and Bosshard and District Attorney James Thompson were in the room with the supervisors, called to advise what action might be taken.

Feared a Snap Vote

Attorney Hartwell, who stood outside with the sheriff and Undersheriff Wright, fearing some snap vote might be taken in the committee room on the Hauser matter, demanded the sheriff serve the papers instantly.

"Break down the door, if necessary," declared the attorney, "these papers are in your hands to serve and it is up to you to serve them at once, even if you must break down the door to get in there."

This talk evidently was heard on the inside, and in a few more moments the door was opened on a crack, and Sheriff Duncan and Undersheriff Wright pushed their way into the room, armed with the injunctional orders and summons. The door was again shut, while the sheriff and his deputy served the papers upon the members.

Board Adjourns at Once

After the lapse of ten or fifteen minutes the committee room door again opened and the supervisors all filed out and into the county board room where after some more delay and many discussions the board was called to order.

The roll was called and immediately thereafter Supervisor William Bradley moved to adjourn until 2 o'clock in order that legal advice might be secured as to whether, under the circumstances the twenty members cited in the quo warranto proceeding, could legally vote on any business whatever until the proceedings were reviewed by the circuit court. The motion was quickly seconded and carried by almost an unanimous vote.

Board is Legal

After adjournment Chairman Richard Davis rapped for order and declared that the board was a legally constituted body, and that they could transact any other business which might come before it in the afternoon. The chairman said the board did not contain any grafters or crooks, and that it could proceed with business at the afternoon session.

The Cited Supervisors

Twenty supervisors were served with summons in the quo warranto proceedings brought by the state on relation of George F. Hauser, to declare their offices vacant. They are: Supervisors John Hatz, W. D. Stratman, Richard Meinking, William Wolfe, Herman Roesler Ray Lewis, John M. Casberg, Hans A. Jacobs, Wenzel Korn, William F. Bradley, A. N. Moore, William Dwyer, Wenzel Lapitz, William C. Riek, William H.Collins,Arthur Holbek,John Kindley, William F. Baker, J. B. Turnbull and Nick Hentges. The first named nineteen are cited on charges of Malfeasance in office, in that they sold goods to the county and were interested in county contracts and then, as members of the board voted payment of the bills, contrary to law. Nick Hentges is cited on the allegation he has never taken out his citizenship papers, is not a citizen of the United States, and therefore is not legally a member of the

to appear before the circuit court within twenty days and defend the action which is brought by the state, on complaint of George F. Hauser, to have their seats declared vacant.

Setlement Not Likely

Ever since the starting of the fight to oust Hauser it has been generally understood, although never officially verified that there might be some sort of settlement effected whereby Hauser should remain in office unmolested and the actions started against the supervisors be dropped. However, it is now considered unlikely any settlement of the fight will be undertaken, since the various members charged with malfeasance, have been placed on record before the public and it is said they feel it is up to them to defend themselves.

May Sue to Recover

It is also reported today that there may be started an action against the nineteen members charged with having profited financially through contracts with and sales to the county, to recover all money received by them on such sales and contracts. According to the statutes this money can be recovered, if the members are proved to have accepted it while holding office.

Attorneys for Hauser would make no statement regarding this phase of the case today. In some instances this would be a small amount, while in the cases of other supervisors, it is said success in such a suit would mean the return of thousands of dollars received through contracts or consequence.

Afternoon Session

After the board was called to order at 2 o'clock this afternoon the clerk announced that he had several petitions for refund of taxes whereupon Supervisor Bradley moved that in view of the fact that the board was illegal adjournment be taken until 6 o'clock this evening. Upon request of Chairman Davis the motion was withdrawn. The petitions were then read and referred to the committee on illegal assessment.

Supervisor John Kindley read ahe report of the tuberculosis hospital committee recommending that a standing committee be appointed to take this matter in charge which was made a special order of business for 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Road Improvement

A resolution by John Hatz authorizing that the $4,500 remaining in the hightway fund be used for the improvement of the north and south Salem, the Mormon Coulee and State Road Coulee road, was made a special order of business for 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Consider Coupon Ballot

The board heard an offer of Morcena Dunn to allow the county to use the coupon ballot of which he is the inventor for the fall election without expense. It was referred to a committee of five on motion of John Kindley.

Chairman Davis then announced the board would adjourn until 5:30 at which time some decision from the circuit court on the Hauser injunction is hoped for from Judge Higbee who is expected in from Sparta then.

MERCHANTS DINE AND GET A LINE

moter of pet schemes the real end of which is to get away with the merchants' money. Mr. Felber hammered home his protest against petty bickering in a manner the vigor of which carried conviction.

Taggart on Interurbans

Secretary Taggart followed with a keen speech the crux of which was the thought that the interurban road is the road to mercantile growt and prosperity

Mr. Taggart reviewed the history of efforts of the merchants, and of other civic bodies, to secure better transportation conditions from the steam roads, showing how these roads are themselves working in organization, how they have a monopoly that we must patronize whether we would or not, and how all attempts to get reasonable service are fruitless.

"We have to patronize them, whether they accommodate us or not, hence they consult their own advantage only," said Mr. Taggart. The answer he said is the interurban road. The answer to the mail order catalogue also is the interurban road.

"Our steam roads don't let people come into the city at proper hours," said the secretary. "The farmer or village resident who can't get what he wants in the little town, and who can't get to La Crosse without getting up at 3 o'clock in the morning, or without staying all night—what does he do?

"He turns to the big book! He orders from the Chicago mail order house!"

"And what will stop him?"

"A way to get to La Crosse conveniently. If he could only get here he could inspect goods before buying, he would have all the variety in the world to select from, and he could buy as cheap and save the freight. The merchants could show him this."

Mr. Taggart then showed that this could never be attained until we have interurban lines, as the steam roads will not give accommodations. He urged that merchants bring pressure to bear on the La Crosse Water Power company to use all possible speed in building their northern interurban, and that in whatever way offered they assure support for other lines that may be projected.

Kroner Wants Co-operation

Mr. Taggart's speech was applauded, and Adam Kroner followed with a discussion of the advantages of the various civic organizations working together. Experience in active work in the board of trade had convinced the former president that by co-operation the united strength of all the civic bodies would be secured by harmonious and united effort.

The Industrial Matter

John Utermoehl, secretary of the board of trade, delivered an address upon the new civic corporation recently financed to the extent of $100,000.00. His purpose was to assure the contributors to the stock that haste in investing the money might be fatal, and that the way to sure success was to go slow and be sure of getting only good and lasting factories.

The Big Things

Peter Newburg gave a respounding echo to the suggestions of President Felber and Secretary Taggart about "going after the big things." He regarded it as a waste of energy for merchants to concentrate their effort upon getting the better of the division of existing trade, urging that the thing to do was to work along lines that promised to increase the sum total of patronage the city gets. Widen the field, bring more outsiders in, kill the catalogue houses. These were the big things recognition of which Mr. Newburg preached.

A Free-for-All Talk

A general discussion followed, and the merchants engaged in "buttonhole" talks in groups about the hall. When the last cigar was smoked, all voted the meeting a great success, and went home with renewed faith in the value of the association.

CHICAGO, March 30.—In the six busy hours that Miss Anne Morgan, daughter of J. A big touring car whirled her from her private car to the Congress Hotel where her wealth brought the entire service humbly to her feet. Leaving the hotel she visited labor leaders at the federation of labor headquarters, then to Hull House and the University of Chicago settlement where she met a delegation of union working girls and for an hour discussed intelligently and with the rarest good fellowship various benefits for them and their cause, throwing in a dash concerning franchises, art, with a capital A, praised everybody, touched upon corruption in politics, and showed herself to be the fortunate possessor of a broad humanity.

At six o'clock Miss Morgan and her party left for California where they expect to remain several weeks.

To All "Cough Worn" People

It's a shame to let that knife-like cough go on "murdering" you when you can stop it almost instantly with a little Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey.

It's so grateful to raw throats, so cool, so soothing, so refreshing and so healing that you forget all about ever having had a cough after a couple of teaspoonfuls.

It knocks out colds completely in a few hours.

Its effect in many cases is almost marvelous.

It removes the cause of the cough and the cold—the germ laden mucous that stops the passages and irritates the throat. It does it naturally—no straining, or extra coughing. Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey leaves the throat and the head as clear as a bell.

It contains real old-fashioned pine tar and real honey and other ingredients of real benefit to coughs and colds—all plainly stated on the bottle. The standard for twenty years.

It is the largest selling cough and cold remedy in the world, because no other medicine or prescription ever does for a cold what this does.

You need Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey in the house all the time. Children love the taste of it and it can't hurt them. Get a bottle now for your cough and see how quickly you begin to feel good again. At all druggists in 25c, 50c and $1 bottles.

Look for our trade mark (the bell) and Granny Metcalfe's picture on every bottle. Made by

CATCHER KLING IS FINED $700

"Awful Lot of Money, but I Suppose I am Stung;" to Be Made Public Tomorrow

CHICAGO, March 30.—If the reports printed here that the national commission has decided that Catcher John Kling must pay $700 fine, and must play for at least one year with the Chicago Cubs at his 1908 salary of $4,500 are true, Kling is satisfied.

"That $700 is a lot of coin," he said in Kansas City today, "but I suppose I am stung. If things go along all right I expect to join the Cubs in about ten days—maybe."

The finding of the national commission will not be made public officially until tomorrow but what is said to be the text of it is published here. According to this, the finding provides that the Chicago club may not trade, sell or release Kling for a period of one year and that neither the Chicago club nor any other club or person connected with organized baseball shall pay Kling's fine or reimburse him for its payment in any way, directly or indirectly.

The feeling here is that in spite of the national commission. Charlie Murphy will probably lose $700 where Kling can find it and thus pay the catcher's fine.

THORSEN SOLD TO ST. JOE MANAGER

"Rube Waddell" Richard Brinsley Sheridan Thorsen, the eccentric Duluth twirler, has been disposed of to the St. Joe club of the Western league Though an excellent pitcher, the Duluth club could not handle the boy, and he has been allowed to get away. It is stated that a very good price was obtained for the blonde hurler.

Negotiations are on between "Mique" Malloy, manager of the Red Wing Indians, and the Duluth club officials for the sale of a number of recruits. In addition to the three men sold to Malloy, it is stated that there will be a number of other candidates go to the southern end team.

ZBYSZKO BEATS MAHMOUT EASILY

Pole's Great Strength Wins for Him; Gets Two Falls in One Hour and Thirty Minutes

F. GOTCH AT THE RING SIDE

Says Pole Is a Tough One, but He will Take Chance and Hopes to Trick Him Into Hold

CHICAGO, March 30.—"Mahmout showed the greater cleverness but it brought him nothing when matched against the powerful Pole. I expect to meet Zbyszko soon. He certainly is tough, but I'll take a chance with him. Zbyszko's great strength may make it difficult for me to get a toe hold on him but I think I can trick him into giving me an opening."

This is the opinion expressed by wrestling champion Frank Gotch of the Zbyszko-Mahmout match last night in which Zbyszko pinned the Bulgarian's shoulders to the mat twice in 1:30:34. In achieving this victory, the Pole added greatly to his prestige as a mat artist and also won the right to meet Gotch for the world's championship.

As Gotch said, it was the Pole's great strength and not his cleverness that won. Zbyszko gave no sign of weakness at any stage of the bout, while Mahmout was clearly tired out when the Pole won the first fall.

Zbyszko won in straight falls. The first was scored with a half-Nelson and a crotch in 1:04:51, and the second with a back bar arm and half-Nelson in 25:43. The surprise of the match was the ease with which Zbyszko twisted out of formidable looking toe hold secured by Mahmout.

EXPERIMENTS WITH NEW GRIDIRON RULES

CHICAGO, March 30.—Before the end of this week experiments with the new football rules will be in full blast at Chicago university. Coach Stagg anounced today that he would assemble his football squad this afternoon and would try out all the changes provided for by the national football rules committee. Walter Camp's suggestions regarding equalizing the offense and defense and the establishment of a 10 yard lateral zone will first be tried out.

BREWERS PLAY TIE WITH COLLEGIANS

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., March 30.—Stoney McGlynn pitched an excellent game for Milwaukee yesterday and tied the university of Illinois by a score of 2 to 2 yesterday afternoon. The teams played in mid-season fashion. The score:

	R	H	E
Milwaukee . .002000000	2	8	4
Illinois. 010000010	2	5	4

Batteries—McGlynn and Marshall; Penn, Johnson and Naperstek.

If weight counts for anything, Frank Gotch, the champion wrestler, will have a big job on his hands when he tackles Zbyszko, the Polish champion, now in this country in search of mat victims and round dollars. Zbyszko is under the management of Jack Herman of Buffalo, who promoted the Root-Gardner and other fights at Fort Erie.

HIGH FIVE OFF FOR APPLETON

The high school basket ball team left this morning for Appleton where they enter the meet for the state championship held under the auspices of Lawrence University.

Many of the state teams which were represented at Madison will not be there, chief among these being Appleton five, which won the championship at the interstate meet. However, most of the best teams in the state will paricipate, and the fight for first place will likely prove a hot one.

In this meet, a team can lost two games before being disqualified, and in this way it is easier to keep in the running. Thursday night is the date set for the first contests, the opponents to be decided upon by lot.

Although the La Crosse five will be without the services of Ed. Stavrum, they hope to put a good battle, and are sure to be fighting for first place all the time. Geo. Walker came back from Minneapolis where he has been sick and will accompany the five, playing one forward position while Erwin Chamberlain plays the other. The rest of the team will be intact.

WILL PLANT TREES ON BURNED AREA

PORTLAND, Ore., March 30.—(Special.)—For the purpose of planting burned over areas in the forest reserves of the northwest, it has just been decided by the forest service bureau to establish a forest nursery near De Borgia, Mont. The trees rooted there will be set out for the most part on the Lolo reserve, Montana, a large part of which has been burned over.

The new nursery tract will have a capacity of $1,500,000 trees annually. Seed will be sown in the beds provided, each bed being four by twelve feet. In one year, the little tree is transplanted and left for two years, when the sapling is set out on the hillside where it is to remain permanently. In many cases, where conditions are favorable, seed is sown directly on the ground where the trees are wanted. By the establishment of the new nursery, the annual capacity of the forest service nurseries is brought up to about 10,000,000 trees.

HIGBEE IRON COMPANY

PRESIDENT'S OFFICE AT ST. PAUL, MINNESOTA.

Mines on the Famous Mesaba Iron Range in Minnes

BOARD OF DIRECTORS:

R. BACON HIGBEE, Business Builder and Counsellor. GEORGE SALZER, President Salzer Land Company, Minneapolis. C. M. HIGBEE, Expert Accountant and Correspondent.

PROSPECTUS

In brief, this is our prospectus. It's brief because our company's the genuine article, and the genuine article can always be presented without expensive superfluities...Cheap propositions like people need fine trimmings to gain attention. If you want an investment for profit, here's your chance and if you don't say so, we're no judges of the ability and intelligence of the people to whom summary will be presented.

ORGANIZATION

The Higbee Iron Company is incorporated for just One Hundred Thousand Dollars, divided shares of the par value of one hundred dollars each. Think of it! Only one thousand shares! This exclusive company, everybody can't get in. Now, that's a business point of no small importance, for slightest improvement in the welfare of our company means an increase of dollars, not cents per share every stockholder, and it is no unusual thing for companies organized on this plan to show profits many dollars in a single day.

PROPERTY

The company owns the controlling interest in an Iron Mining Lease from the State of Minne covering a hundred and sixty acres located on the famous Mesaba Iron Range, the biggest iron range the world and from whose many mines come yearly about one-half of the world's iron ore supply. A or more diamond and churn drill holes have already been put down on our land, blocking out a body ore something like a quarter of a mile long and an eighth of a mile wide. Millions of tons of iron are shown to exist, and many, many times as much will probably be found as development proceeds, especially when drilling is continued deeper and over the balance of our property, seven-eighths of which never even been touched. A great point about our mine is that the ore is only about forty feet below top of the ground, which will make it one of the easiest mines in the world to mine. Then, too, we in good company, for on different sides we are adjoined by the mines and properties of the "Great Hill" and the U. S. Steel Company, and other property of R. B. Higbee, George Salzer and the State Minnesota

The biggest kind of development is taking place here—here, where a few years ago was a timbered wilderness, are now thriving towns, railroads and activity not unrivaled by the much vaunted Panama Canal. Things are doing here. It would do your heart good just to see it. No other equals it for stupendousness, modern business romance and picturesqueness. An Empire is in the building and later, when the vast peat deposits are used to convert the raw ore into the finished product at mines, the influence of the Empire that's growing fast will be reckoned with by all future generations. Here in the north woods of Minnesota—here on the banks of America's Inland Sea, is taking place change that shall go down into history more wonderful to tell than any chapter of "Arabian Nights"

If you want to be a partner in this great drama, get busy and buy some of our shares today—morrow may be too late—stranger things have happened here. And then, there's one more great thing about our stock. You'll never see it selling at a less price than it is today. Every share that's issued brings par or more. You can't get it for less, and it's mighty cheap at that. Mr. Salzer and myself have sold some shares to people we wanted associated with us at only a hundred dollars each, or, in other words par; but not one of the present stockholders would think of such a thing as selling much of any of his stock at such a ridiculously low figure. Five and even six hundred dollars should be cheap for this stock, figuring on the present development alone; and future developments should, if I am any prophet, bring the ultimate returns on a share of this stock up to ten or twenty times that much.

Dividends are expected to begin in the near future, to be increased as rapidly as circumstances permit. Come in with us now and, as time goes on, you'll congratulate yourself on your foresight.

We're the boys on the ground. We've been pioneers and we've seen the thing grow. It will pay you to be in with us. Such co-operation will be of advantage to you in more ways than one.

Our following is increasing every day, and if you, reader, are a lover of real enterprise, hook up with us now. Write for price and terms on stock at once, and, thanking you for your kind attention I am, Yours sincerely,

R. B. HIGBEE, President

Grain Letter.

CHICAGO, March 30.—Greatest interest of grain traders at the opening of the Board of Trade markets today again centered in the weather conditions over the winter wheat belt. The trade started the day bullish and marked prices up quite sharply on first trades. May wheat showed special strength with an advance of $1.14 1-2, one cent over the close yesterday. July sold at $1.08⅛ and $108 5-8, top price 3-4 cent higher than the close Tuesday.

There was a return of strength in corn the first hour today, when the May price was again advanced to 63 1-2c, July to 65 1-2c. Dispatches say the country will offer very little corn for some time, because of field work. Offerings in the local markets were extremely light this morning.

Trade in oats was in moderate volume. Prices advanced a fraction in sympathy with the stronger tone in wheat and corn. The buying was largely of a local character. On the advance there was some selling for profits. Receipts were exceedingly small.

Provisions had a weak undertone. The selling of September lard prompted more or less selling by the pit talent. The demand was scattered.

Wheat closed unchanged to ¼c up. Corn and oats weak and lower. Provisions sharply lower all around.

ROELLIG'S NAME NOT ON NOTICE

Attorney A. E. Bleekman, republican city chairman, today complains that again last night City Clerk Jos. M. Sieger failed to insert the name of William Roellig, republican candidate for alderman in the Twelfth ward, in the published election notice.

Attorney Bleekman has called the attention of the clerk to the omission and demands the insertion of the name so that Roellig's candidacy may not be later declared illegal through this failure.

GRAY HAIRS BANISHED.

The old idea of using sage for darkening the hair is again coming in vogue. Our grandmothers used to have dark, glossy hair at the age of seventy-five, while our mothers have white hair before they are fifty. Our grandmothers used to make a "sage tea" and apply it to their hair. The tea made their hair soft and glossy and gradually restored the natural color. One objection to using such a preparation was the trouble of making it, especially as it had to be made every two or three days on account of it souring quickly. This objection has been overcome and by asking almost any first-class druggist for Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur the public can get a superior preparation of sage, with the admixture of sulphur, another valuable remedy for hair and scalp troubles. Daily use of this preparation will not only quickly restore the color of the hair but will also stop the hair from falling out and make it grow. It is sold by all druggists for 50c, and $1.00 a bottle, or is sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

For sale and recommended by O. T. Erhart.

SENATE IS READY TO FIGHT A FIGHT

Progressives Prepared to Compel Amendments of Various Administration Bills for Public

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 30. —Insurgency in the senate during the days near at hand, when the big bills come up for action, will be lively enough but will scarcely approach the revolution stage. What the progressives will do will be to preserve their freedom of action and show up the bad spots in the big bills as they come along. Their fight will be to prevent legislation along reactionary lines.

The first demonstration of the progressives was made on the postal savings bank bill and it was a success.

The bill made it possible to use the deposits for the purchase of $700,000,000 of two percent government bonds now in the hands of bankers. A fight was made on this provision, it being charged that the object in view was to relieve the banks of these low interest bonds and enable them to buy forthcoming Panama three percent bonds. As a result of the protest the bill was amended so that the money could be invested in no government bonds carrying less than two and one quarter percent interest. A number of the regulars voted with the progressives on the issue.

To Fight Railway Bill

There will be a fight on the administration railroad bill which is called up and laid aside in the senate every day. General speeches are now in order and after the supply has been exhausted the bill will be considered by sections. Then it is that the amendments will be presented and the debates will be hot and heavy. Cummins (R., Iowa) progressive, in a keen analysis of the bill declared it was full of bad spots and his colleagues think he made good. At any rate Senator Aldrich rose a few days later to say that a number of amendments to the bill would be offered by its friends but he wanted it distinctly understood that the action was not influenced by Cummins speech. The amendments had been decided upon long before by the administration.

A few days later Elkins (R., W. Va.) also gave warning to all the people that however much the forthcoming amendments might seem to be in line with some of Cummins suggestions they were children of the minds of those who drafted the bill.

There is a great deal of curiosity in the senate as to the character of the forthcoming amendments and also considerable impatience, in view of the fact that they have not yet been presented. The fear is entertained by the progressives that important changes in the bill will be held back in the last stage of the proceedings when there will be little time to give them consideration.

The biggest fight will be over the section of the bill that proposed the creation of a court of commerce, to have special jurisdiction over cases under the interstate commerce law.

To Talk High Prices

Then there is to be a spell of tariff discussion that will revive the contentions of last summer when the new tariff rates were adopted. President Taft's laudation of the Payne-Aldrich bill in a number of his recent speeches is given as one of the reasons for the desire of the progressives to reopen the question. They also have views, however on the relation of the tariff to high prices that they tink may be of general interest. The debate will probably be precipitated by an amendment to the sundry civil appropriation bill for the creation of a tariff commission.

Dolliver (R. Iowa) who figured so prominently in the fight against the cotton schedules in the tariff, is, according to his colleagues, composing a speech that will attract national attention.

The hall will be prettily decorated in pink and white, the colors adopted by the association. Each guest will wear a carnation of one of these colors. The association will have Andre's orchestra and every thing in connection with the event will be on a much large scale than ever before. Arrangements have been made to have street cars on the corner of Fourth and Main streets after the ball.

S.S.S. CURES BLOOD HUMORS

ECZEMA ACNE TETTER SALT RHEUM RASHES PIMPLES ETC.

The skin is provided with countless pores and glands, through which an evaporation is going on continually, day and night. This is Nature's method of regulating the temperature of our bodies, and preserving the natural appearance of the skin. These pores and glands are connected with tiny veins and arteries through which they receive from the blood the necessary nourishment and strength to preserve their healthy condition,

Just as long as the blood remains pure the skin will be free from eruptions, but when the blood becomes affected with acids and humors its nourishing and healthful properties are lost, and its acrid, humor-laden conditiou causes inflammation of the delicate tissues and fibres of the pores and glands, and the effect is showu in Eczema, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Pimples, Rashes, etc.

The humors and acids get into the blood through a deranged and inactive condition of the system. Those members whose duty it is to collect and expel the refuse matters of the body fail to properly do their work, and a surplus amount of waste matter is left in the system to sour and ferment and be absorbed into the blood. Salves, washes, lotions, etc., are valuable only for what ability they possess to keep the skin clean, allay itching and temporarily reduce inflammation. They cannot cure skin trouble because they do not reach the blood.

ECZEMA 12 YEARS. S.S.S. CURED HER

Dear Sirs:—I suffered with a bad case of Eczema for over 12 years, and I tried everything I heard of, and had many medicines prescribed by doctors. I spent considerable money and my husband spared no expense to cure me of the disease. Nothing helped me until I began to use S. S. S. I commenced this medicine and the Eczema soon begun to gradually disappear. I continued taking S. S. S., and it completely cured the disease. Mrs. Chas. Gill. 50 Clinton St., Newark, N. J.

S. S. S. cures Skin Diseases of every character and kind because it is the greatest of all blood purifiers. It goes into the circulation and REMOVES the acids and humors that are causing the trouble, builds up the weak, acrid blood and completely cures Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Pimples, Rashes, and every variety of skin eruption and affection. When S. S. S. has driven out the humors and acids from the blood, every symptom passes away, the skin is nourished with rich, healthful blood, the tissues are relieved of all inflammation, natural evaporation again takes place and the skin becomes soft and smooth and perfect.
